TOTAL SOLAR ECLIPSE EMERGENCY PLANNING WORKSHOPS

Good afternoon,

The Idaho Office of Emergency Management continues to work with local communities, state agencies and their leaders to help communities prepare for the expected arrival of what is estimated to be a large influx of visitors during the weekend leading up to the Total Solar Eclipse on August 21.

As promised, IOEM is offering more emergency operations planning opportunities for your community. We have scheduled a series of planning workshops to help ensure your community is prepared to deal with any incidents that may arise from the large number of visitors the eclipse event is predicted to draw into Idaho.

These workshops are designed to help communities recognize and plan for the most likely issues they may face when a large event happens. In addition to IOEM, representatives from the Idaho Department of Commerce, Idaho Transportation Department, Idaho State Police, US Forest Service and local Public Health Districts will be available to discuss their planning efforts and what impacts they are expecting. I strongly encourage attendance by community leaders, emergency personnel and first responders.
